

FLH-11002/29
42203sh

I claim:

1. An instrument for closing skin edges forming a wound, the instrument
2 comprising:
4 a pair of opposing elements used to engage and bring together the skin edges; and a device to supply glue to the skin edges being brought together.
2. The instrument of claim 1, wherein the opposing elements rotate, enabling
2 the instrument to be pulled along a wound to progressively bring the edges together.
3. The instrument of claim 2, wherein the wheels include barbs or other skin-
2 engaging features.
4. The instrument of claim 2, wherein the wheels are coupled to opposing
2 manually operated buttons.
5. The instrument of claim 1, wherein the device used to supply glue is a
2 breakable vial or fillable reservoir.